► THE TALKS

16:00-16:20 REGISTRATION

16:20-16:30 INTRODUCTION AND WELCOME

1 KEEPING THE SCREENAGERS HAPPY BY BEN GOLDSTEIN

16:30-17:20

We all know how video can engage and motivate today's screenagers, but are we making the best of the media? This workshop outlines the changes that the digital age is making to the use of video in and out of class. In doing so, we will analyse the kinds of videos that the YouTube generation watch and how they interact online. We will go on to analyse the four key functions of video and finally show how authentic material from Discovery Education™ can be adapted and integrated into other skills and language work. Examples from Smart Planet will be shown.

17:20-17:35 THE CAMBRIDGE LEARNING JOURNEY

17:35-18:00 COFFEE BREAK

2 WHO DO WE THINK THEY ARE: REACHING AND TEACHING TEENAGERS BY RACHEL JEFFRIES

18:00-18:50

There's so much more happening in a teenage classroom than simply teaching and learning English. Yes, we want our learners to achieve academic success and to feel confident in English; however, we also want to give equal importance to the idea of lifelong success, personal development and well-being. We want our teenage students to learn how to collaborate, we want to emphasise life skills and critical thinking, self-esteem, creativity and fun! In this session we'll consider some of these choices and then explore ways of achieving this through practical classroom ideas.

► THE SPEAKERS

1 BEN GOLDSTEIN has taught English for over twenty years in the UK, Spain and Hong Kong. He currently teaches on The New School's online MATESOL program (New York). He is the author of the coursebook and workbook for English Unlimited Advanced and the Secondary course Smart Planet. He has also written the teachers' methodology handbooks Working with Images and Language Learning with Digital Video. His main interests lie in intercultural issues, identity, images and video and English as an International Language.

2 RACHEL JEFFRIES started her teaching career in 2008 as a secondary teacher of Drama in the UK, later moving into the world of ELT. She has experience in teaching a wide range of nationalities, ages and in various countries including Italy, Australia and Spain. She holds the PGDE (Post Graduate Diploma in Education) and the DELTA. Rachel is currently a Teacher Trainer at Cambridge University Press Iberia.
